Experience as it relates to service to my community:

I have been civically engaged for most of my life. As a young adult, I represented my community while living abroad. Upon my return I spoke at civic groups and schools to foster a broader sense of understanding and peace.

I am a trained primary care physician but work as a consultant in Business Management and Equity work. I also work with a large Latinx culturally specific nonprofit. The work has me interacting closely with local, county and state governments. I have served on various state committees in several states.

I also have worked in the Gorge on collaborative approaches to health and social issues; and have been a WA state delegate.
